THE HOWELL FAMILY.

The Howell family are of Welsh extraction and bear a name well-known in the Principality. Before the middle of the eighteenth century, Richard Howell, who was born in 1715, emigrated to Sussex County, New Jersey. He married Anna O'Donnell, from Dublin; but whether before or after coming to America does not appear. It is supposed that he died before the commencement of the Revolutionary War; but in any event, it was his son, John Howell, born in 1753, who eventually became the pioneer of the family in Canada. John

When about twenty-three years old, John Howell moved to Johnstown, by the Mohawk River, and about the same time enlisted in the second battalion of Sir John Johnstone, the son of Sir William Johnstone (a native of Ireland who had acquired a considerable estate on the banks of the Mohawk), and a most distinguished officer under General Burgoyne. He served throughout the Revolutionary War and was with Sir John at the investment of Fort Stanwix and the defeat of General Herkimer, and when Sir John was himself defeated, in 1780, by General Van Rensselaer at Fox's Mills. He received rapid promotion, rising to sergeant-major and subsequently receiving his commission in Butler's Rangers, a regiment much maligned by many fabrications.

On the termination of the war, Major Howell and his regiment were stationed at Oswego; and, while garrisoning that important point, the gallant soldier conceived an affection for a German girl whose name was Eva Catharine Sheets, and married her. Peace being declared, his regiment was disbanded, and he came to Kingston. Afterwards, some time between the years 1785 and 1787, the dates of the births of his children Mary A. and Jacob, he moved to Fredericksburg, where he settled on two hundred acres of land, and built a wind mill, probably one of the first mills propelled by power to be erected in Upper Canada; and subsequently sold to a settler named Russell. He remained about twelve years in Fredericksburg, and again removed, this time to Sophiasburg, where he must have settled before 1804, as six of his children were born there, between that year and 1815. King's

He landed in Sophiasburgh in a little cove just below Big Island near the present Northport. He remained there a short time, until he moved west near the village of Demorestville, and finally settled on Big Island, on what is now recognized as the John Moran place. His loyalty in the war had cost him dearly. His estate was confiscated, and as the lands proved very valuable, for the city of Rome, N.Y., was built upon it, he spent much time and money in a vain attempt to regain its possession. He was notoriously combative, and fought for his rights with the tenacity of a bulldog in the courts of that state; but he fought a new power which constricted the law to suit itself, and, in the end, his suit was defeated. The British Government, however, recognised his services in the loyalist cause, and gave him a grant of twelve hundred acres for himself and a like quantity for his family. He also received a commission as Justice of the Peace, and was appointed Colonel of the Prince Edward Militia, and a Mohawk Indian Agent.

His familiarity with several Indian dialects and his former intimate relations with the Mohawk Indians on the Mohawk River, enabled him to win the regard of the Indians on the Bay of Quinte. His visits to them were frequent, and were gladly returned by their chiefs, who sought his advice and looked on him as an arbitrator in their matters of dispute. He has been described as being six feet, two inches in height, with red hair and blue eyes; and his commanding presence and military figure, with a long sword clanging by his side, compelled the respect of the Indians, and never failed to quell them when their savage propensities were awakened. It has been narrated how on a certain occasion a band of blood-smeared braves came over from Tyendinaga and implored the Major to return with them, to act as mediator in their troubles. He consented, and met their victorious enemies, whom he ordered to smoke the pipe of peace and bury the hatchet. At first they were stubborn, and threatened to kill him if he interfered; but he overawed them, and appealing to their native sense of justice and fair play, succeeded in effecting a reconciliation.

But notwithstanding his stern appearance and martial air, the Pioneer was fond of a practical joke. Once, in the early days, two of his militiamen fell in love with the same girl—not an altogether original proceeding. As neither would retire, and the lady could not be shared, the swains decided that the matter should be settled by a duel; for duels were not yet out of fashion, although of rare occurrence, in the forests of Upper Canada. Not recognizing the necessity of seconds, the rivals appealed to the Major. Yes; he was agreeable, and would act for both, provided the choice of weapons was left to him. Lying somewhere among his disused accoutrements, he had a rusty, bent and absolutely harmless old sword, which he carried with him when he proceeded to the ground selected for the combat. The principals could not understand why he had brought but the one weapon, and that one more like an antiquarian relic of the Roman period than a smooth Bilbao blade; so they asked for an explanation. "Oh," said the Major, in a casual tone, "one can use it until he gets tired; then the other can have a try;" which settled the duel, but did not dispose of the girl, who married a third party.

The Pioneer was a man of liberal education for the times in which he lived, being conversant with the Dutch and French languages, besides several Indian dialects. His intelligent and progressive ideas led him quickly to perceive the evidences the country gave of being particularly suitable for fruit culture; and he was one of the first, if not the first, of the settlers in his part of the county, to produce an apple-bearing orchard. The old people of quarter of a century ago, when discussing the merits of this or that kind of apple, always referred to certain varieties which grew in Major Howell's orchard as being the best they ever ate. The orchard was planted about three miles west of Northport, where there are now to be found traces of an old burying ground.

So far as can be ascertained the German girl the Pioneer married at Oswego was his first wife; but from an account given by Canniff, the historian, one might be led to infer otherwise. He says: "An event in Howell's life during the war is not without a touching interest. Before joining the regiment, he had courted and won the heart of a fair lady at Johnstown. While stationed at Coteau du Lac he obtained permission during the winter, when hostilities were suspended, to go to Johnstown to obtain his bride. Guided by seven Indians, he set out to traverse a pathless wilderness on snow-shoes. The wedding trip had its perils, and almost a fatal termination. On their return they lost their way in the interminable woods, and soon found themselves destitute of food. For days they were without anything to eat. One day they shot a squirrel, which, divided among them, was hardly a taste to each. The thongs of their shoes were roasted and eaten, to allay the pangs of hunger. At last they succeeded in shooting a deer, which had well nigh proved the death of some, from over-eating. Two of the men were left behind, but they subsequently came in."

The Pioneer undoubtedly had a second wife, who was Mrs. Nancy Fairman, and whose children by him were John, Catharine, Charles, Hector, and Nancy. His sister Lueretia married Joseph Morden, the progenitor of the Mordens who are settled in the Bay of Quinte district. Major John Howell lived to be an old man, having had many strange incidents crowded into his adventurous life; and having enjoyed for many years the respect and affection of both whites and Indians. He had a large family and left many descendants who have become prominent men in the Bay district.

His son Griffith kept a store on the Broadway in Demorestville; he also engaged largely in lumbering. In one enterprise he was joined by his brother Jacob, and while the latter remained to attend to the business in this county, Griffith set out with the lumber for Montreal. But he met with misfortune; for his raft broke up when shooting a rapid in the river, and all on board were drowned, with the exception of himself, who, strangely enough was the only one of all the crew that could not swim. A relic of one of these lumbering trips is an old wooden clock, whose works are made of wood, and which was purchased in Montreal for forty-five dollars, and has kept regular time for over eighty years. This old timepiece is now in the possession of John A. Howell of Ameliasburg, who is a grandson of Jacob Howell.

Jacob Howell substituted farming for lumbering. He owned and worked a farm of two hundred acres in Gomorrah, on which he lived until his death, when it passed into the hands of his son Randall, and was eventually sold, being now in the possession of the Longwell family. Jacob Howell, among his many other business undertakings, for many years distilled whiskey, for which he found a ready sale. He was a Warden of the County, and like his father was held in high respect. An active member of the Presbyterian Church, he was widely known as a local preacher.

Many descendants of the old Pioneer, and more particularly of the Jacob branch, are settled in Ameliasburg. John A. Howell, a son of Griffith Howell, and a great-grandson of Major John Howell, starting out early in life for himself, with the help of his brother James acquired a rich fertile farm near Mountain View, in which district he has been the leading Magistrate for many years. In his young days he taught school, and by travel and study has since kept himself intelligently abreast of the times; for over twenty years he has been a much appreciated Methodist class leader. He is not only respected as a successful farmer, but is cordially liked for his genial and kindly disposition. Always a staunch Reformer, and now a member of the Executive Council for Prince Edward, he is very proud of his politics; a pride however which permits him to tolerate, in a manner that befits his liberal views, the opinions of those who happen to differ from him.

My library has been kind enough to enquire into the availability of the above ,however we are told that it is the policy of the Library of Congress not to interloan genealogical material because of its rarity.

I must look further into this to find out whether it is possible to obtain copies of the sections which might be of interest to me in my search.

what is your opinion?

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

I am working on a genealogical search of my family. To-day I spent in Newburgh and yesterday in Nepanee. Unfortunately I had to return home to Aurora this afternoon, otherwise I may have been in touch with you.

I understand from Mrs. Joyce (nee Madden) of Newburgh that you are an authority on United Empire Loyalists. I am told that my ancestors, the Howell family are descendants of United Empire Loyalists, however I do not have proof of this, as yet. Would you be able to give me the information I seek.

While in Newburgh, I visited the United Church Cemetery & the burial spots of some of the family.

My father is William Aiton Howell my grandfather is James Howell my great grandfather is William Howell.

Now William lived in Newburgh at the time of the 1851 and 1861 census - I have proof of this

Also according to Harrington's "Gleanings of Lenox & Addington" he was a carpenter in partnership with Clark.

His issue - John T. - Sarah - Louise - Marshall - William H - James (my grandfather) who I'm told had a twin who died at birth, there may have been others.

William's wife was Elizabeth, d. Jan. 22, 1859 age 40 (this inscription appears on the tombstone.
Also her name & age appears on the census of 1851
age 33.

I do not know her maiden name, but I would appreciate any information available.

I have spent many hours at archival libraries, registry offices, & Toronto U.C.L. society etc. & have gathered a world of information but I need to know about the immediate past.

Hoping to hear from you,
yours truly,

Doris M. E. Thorp

According to this months issue of the National Geographical Apr. 1975--- p 515
It states that that the following are the four rich repositories of Loyalist information in the world.

University of New Brunswick
The American Antiquarian Society
City University of New York University of London.

I have only just uncovered this bit of information, perhaps there is some way in which to obtain copies of information which I seek.

your opinion ?

Miscellaneous.

Howell, Michigan, USA

I have received a booklet from a town named Howellin USA. This booklet states that

Town of HOWell, Michigan, USA established as a village in 1863, named after Thomas HOWell- son of Judge HOWell, N. J.

I have obtained from the UEL society copies of lists made by yourself of confiscations and sequestrations of the Loyalists-----John and Griffith HOWell are noted.

Also I have a copy of Loyalists graves in Bay of Quinte, which I received , by mail from G. Smith, Bath, Ontario.

Dear Dr. Burleigh;

Last spring I wrote to you stating that I had begun a genealogical search of the Howell family. You very kindly replied on June 2.

Since that time I have managed to gather together a wealth of information, however not all that I had hoped for. I have visited the Ontario Archives, Toronto-United Church Archives, also in Toronto, United Empire Loyalist Society, Napane Historical Society, and museum, North York Library, the Kingston Diocesan Centre (by correspondence) and discovered relatives I never knew existed. I spent time at the cemetery in Newburgh, and spoke to old time residents, spent time also in Napanee.

I have exhausted every known source available, and I really don't know just where to search next.

I recall that friends of ours, the Clausens of Tottenham were able to purchase from you information which they needed for their search and which you made available.

I am hoping that I may do the same.

If this is possible, and if you have the time to check your source for me, I would gladly send to you all that which I have managed to collect this far, you may have parts which I need or may be able to advise me as to where I may locate same.

I shall not go into any further detail, until I hear whether this is agreeable to you.

Yours truly ,

Doris M.E. Thorp.

The following I discovered in my visit to NEWBURGH, Ont.

United Church Cemetery, formerly Methodist Cemetery.

• White tombstone in graveyard read thus---

In memory of

Elizabeth Howell, wife of William Howell

b. 1819

d. Jan. 22, 1859, age 40

Red tombstone reads-

Howell

Father

John T.

1849-1935

Mother

Deborah

1858-1894

age 36

Their daughter-

Gertie Bowen

1879-1957

Lena Howell

1876-1968

son of William

Ps. My own observations-

(Eliz. Howell, nee Peterson)

Elizabeth is my great grandmother, wife of William. She is buried in this cemetery, as noted. There is NO RECORD of William being buried here. (i.e. no record in the town either, although relatives say he is buried here in same plot) (see page marked "Death of William" obtained from Ont. Archives.)

census of 1851 states

Wm. Howell -carpenter, joiner,Canada West,West Methodist age 40 (As he was 40 at time of this census ,we decided he was born 1811 ----proof found later)
His family are listed thus- Marshal,age 12, Wm. H. age 8 John age, 5.Elizabeth age 33 (We assumed her to be his wife,(proof of this found later,) census of 1861 - similar but with addition of James , age. 8 who became my grandfather

according to relatives James was 19 years of age when his father died-from this we established Williams death at 1871

see confirmation Kingston "Daily Br Whig"

In History of Lennox & Addington -MIKA on page 300-- is mention of William Howell , a carpenter in business with Clark.

Mention of Howell & Clark and my relatives remind me that William was indeed a carpenter who fell to his death from a scaffold.

W.D. Reid --William of Fredericksburgh married Elizabeth Peterson Apr. 6,1839

(Elizabeth's grave located in Newburgh cemetery)

However no record of William buried there. Unable to find any records in town of Newburgh- visited there in May 1974 .

Contacted the minister ,town office, and older residents-
Results- NIL

According to "Christian Guardian", newspaper located in United Church Archives.
the following is stated-----

"Past records destroyed in fire of 1887 -some information gathered from old residents. Newburgh Methodist Church 1858-1908 was one of the first churches built in historic Bay of Quinte district
The first and only church built previous to the present one was erected about 1841-.

Apparantly William^{was} at one time in many different spots, if this is one and the same person.

William lived in Fredericksburgh,

As its name indicates, the village of Centreville owes its very existence to the fact that it is situated near the centre of the township. Camden East formerly had the honour of being the municipal capital of Camden; but objections were taken to its location on the very border line of the township, and in the contest that followed Centreville came out victorious.

Dear Dr. Burleigh

Enclosed you will find the material I have managed to collect on the Howell family. I don't know where else to search for Williams' parents - grandparents connecting him to John Howell, son of Richard. I do hope this is the correct track.

Very many thanks,
yours sincerely
Louis U.E. Thorp.

Summary

I seek proof of the birth place and place of burial of William Howell(great grandfather)

I have hopes of tying him in with the descendents of John Howell. There are TWO Williams mentioned in the list of descendants. But which is the correct one? Also UEL list in Crown Land Dept. R. 289 lists William Howell ,son of John of Sophiasburgh & Ameliassburgh. Also there is noted that Mathew Howell had a son William. Which is the William I seek.?

I have established the fact that William Howell was born in 1811- but where?
He lived in Newburgh at the time of the census.
He died in Ernestown, result of an accident.

Where is he buried?

His wife is buried in Newburgh Cemetary- I have proof.
His son, my grandfather is buried in Montreal .(James)
His other son, John, is buried in Newburgh ,also John's family.

William had a brother, David.

In newspaper, "Daily Br, Whig" KINGSTON' it states that William was a resident of Newburgh.
In newspaper " " it states that Williams brother David lived in NAPANEE.

According to the same newspaper, Williams middle name was JACOB. Hence we now have the two names, David and Jacob appearing. (John Howell had descendents with both names)

-----I recall that my folks have thought that our ancestors haad come from South Carolina.

-- I have read that there was a battle in CAMDEN, SOUTH CAROLINA-

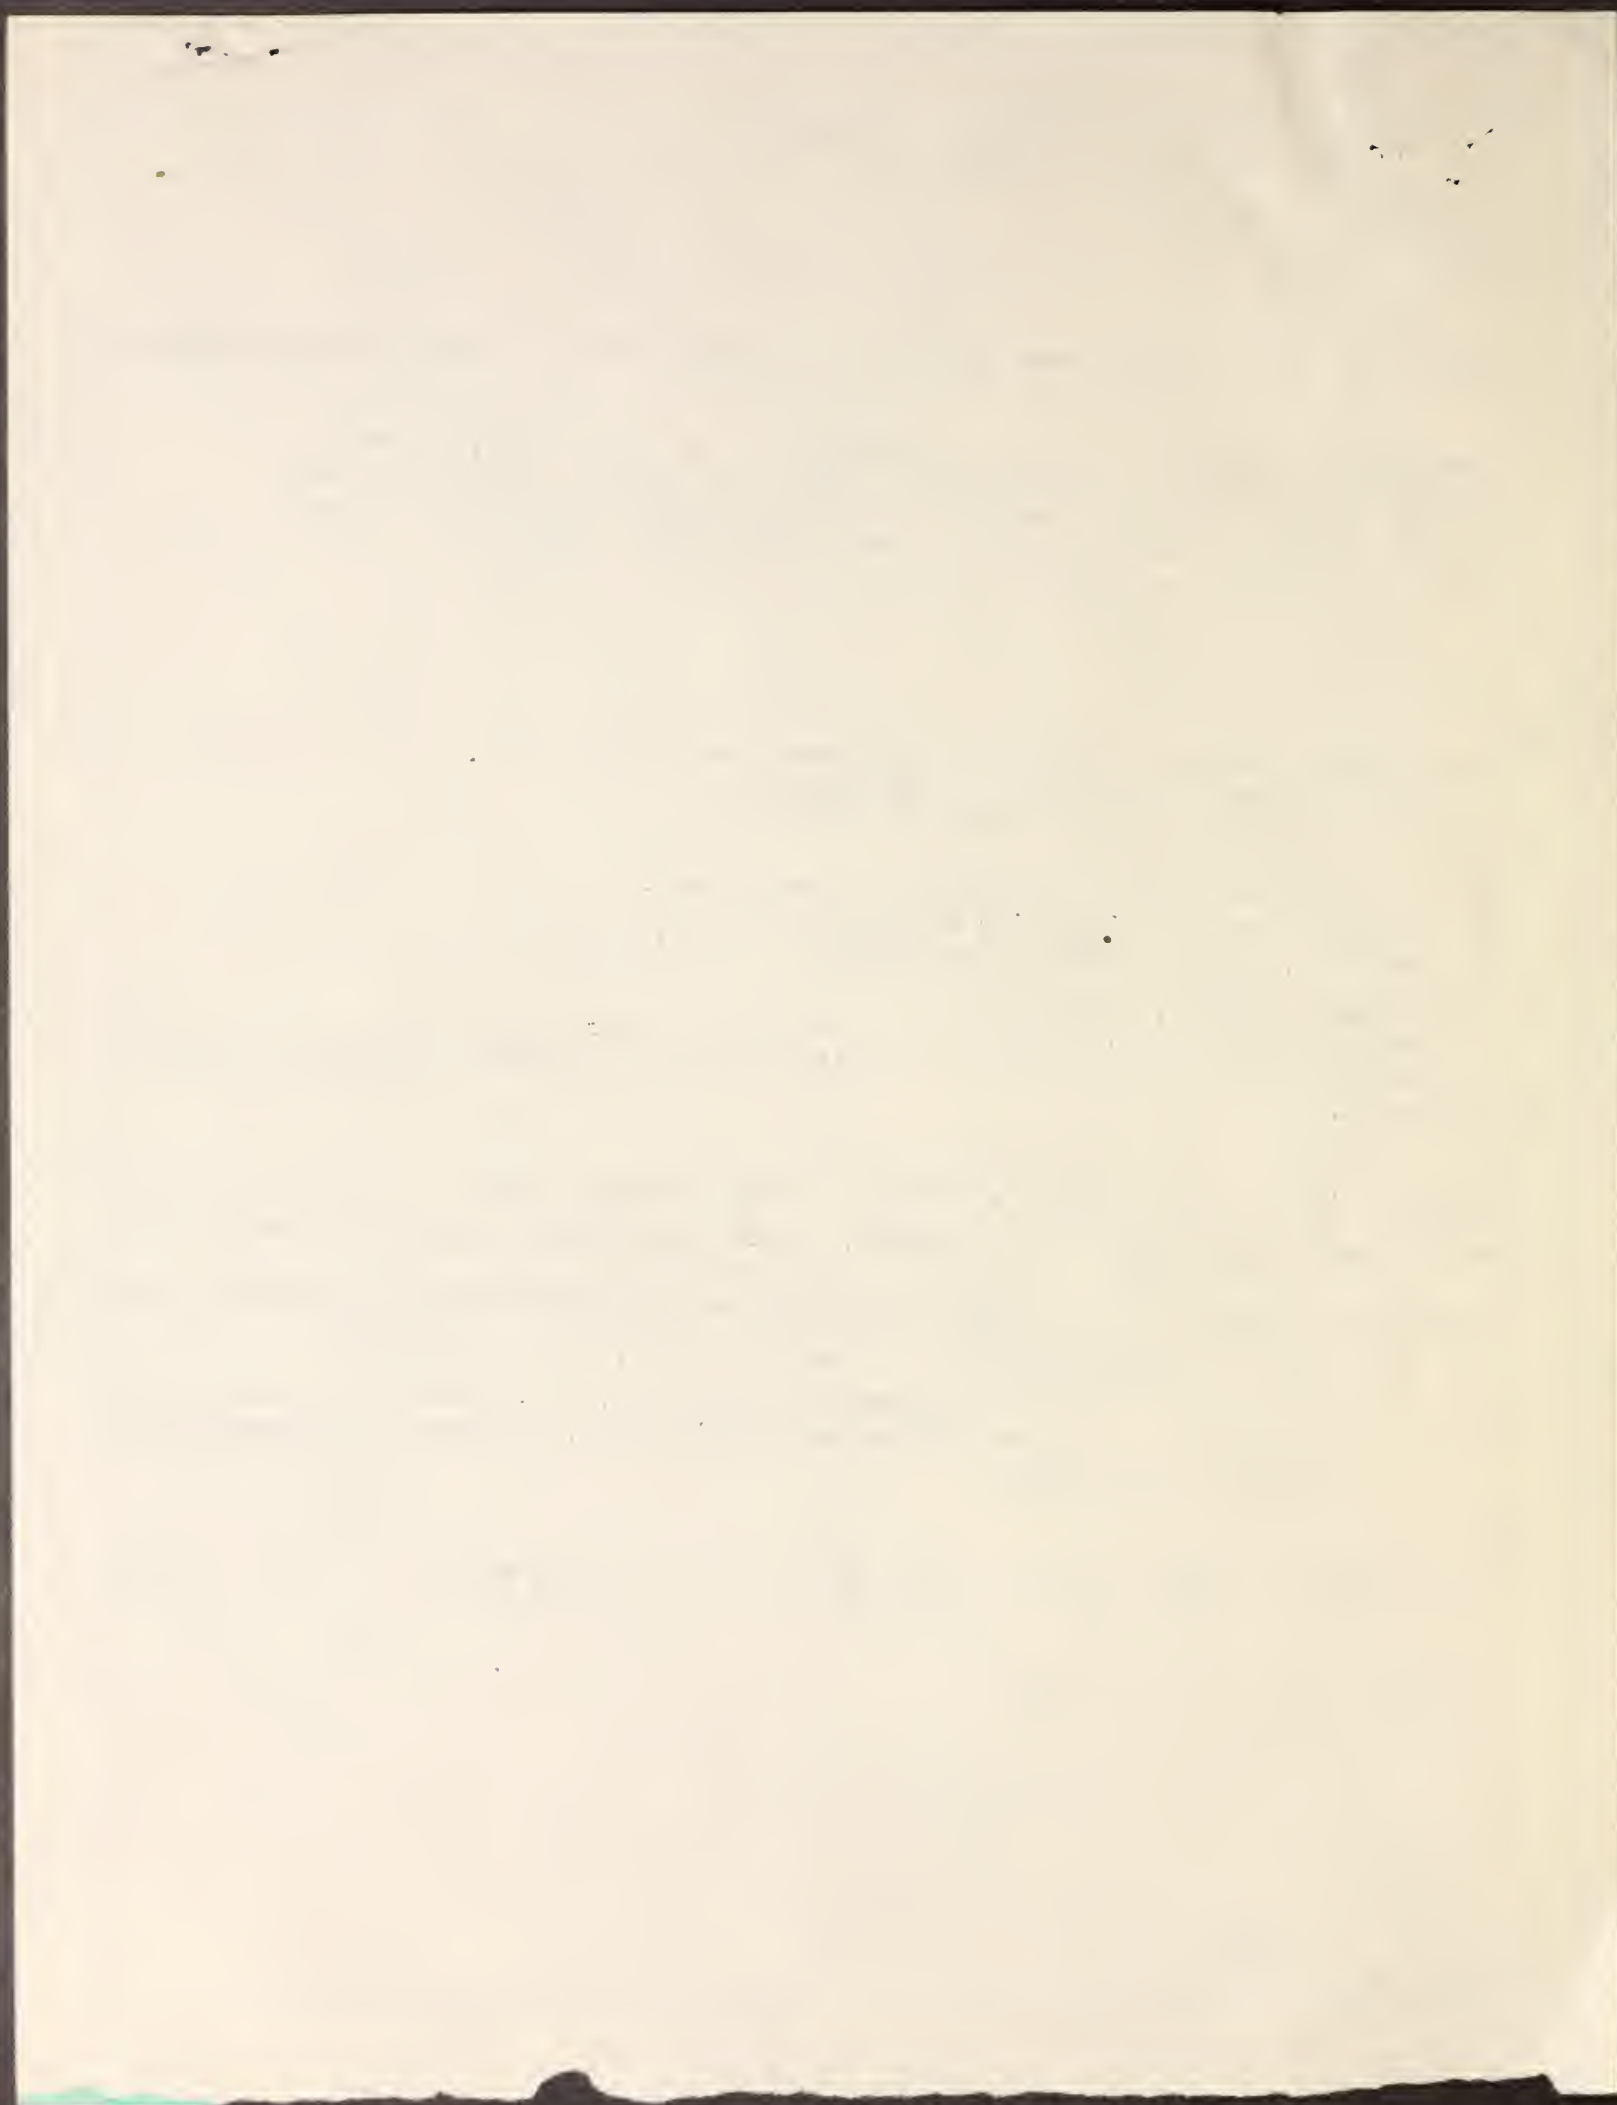

(William resided in CAMDEN, Twp. (Newburgh, Lennox & Add,)

There may or may not be some connection here. Perhaps his ancestors saw action in this area.

At one time the family were Methodists & Anglicans, so this has added to the confusion;

I have found in the Ontario Archives many branches of the Howell family. There is a mss. containing genesis of the Howell family- called THE BUCK PAPERS.

Sampson Howell III 1772 etc.

Hugh Howell b1659 Wales, settled N.J. d. 1745

I am convinced that this branch is not the one I seek.

In Milton Rubincain ' "The Old United Empire Loyalist List " we find -

John Howell-Sophiasburgh and Ameliasburgh- 650 acres etc. RR N.Y. LBM 1791

? Warren Howell = Fredericksburgh RR.N.Y. A McL

In UEL list, preserved in the Crown Lands Dept. Toronto- we find-

Dear Dr. Burleigh;

I just received the enclosed bit re. Howell family being members of the Sons of Temperance----it may not be important, however it is interesting--so I thought I would send it along.

I can't remember, now, whether or not I enclosed copies of the census. If not, well here they are. If so, well then just disregard it.

Sincerely,

Doris M.E. Thorp.

Howell

During the 1800's there flourished in NEWBURGH, , north of Napanee, a Society or Lodge known as The Sons of Temperance.

1852-1857 William Howell was a prominent member.

1858 William Howell was a mamber

1858 Marshall Howell was a member

1858 David Howell was a member

1859- 1861 William & David were mambers

1862 William & John were members

David was suspended.

1863-1866 John Howell was a member

1867 James Howell became a member.

NB . To recall past information re. William as noted in the census

William had a brother David.

William's issue were----

John---Sarah--Louise---Marshall---William H.---Moria---James (& Ewin)

So it seems that all of the male members of the family were members of the above mentioned society.

PERHAPS IF WE WERE ABLE TO LOCATE THE BURIAL PLACE OF DAVID HOWELL (Wm. brother)
(ALSO HIS DATE OF DEATH ETC) WILLIAM MAY BE MENTIONED ,AND PERHAPS IS BURIED NEAR BY.

Dear Dr. Burleigh

Thanks for writing once again
Our last letters must have crossed.

I hope to be able to continue on with this search. I am so involved now, I could never give up — It's fascinating & exciting

When the weather settles I shall get around to visiting the cemeteries in question as I did last Spring. I am in constant touch with Japanese Museum — I hear from Kingston. I want to get back to the Archives — there is so much information there
I could spend days reading & checking —

I'm so thrilled that you were able to uncover Joseph & Hannah Howell. I have not come across them at all. —

Mathew had me confused — as it appears that there are two ^{Mathews} anyway, I'll keep checking.

where Aseph & Hannah's issue are noted - viz. James & William J. - was there no mention of David? Remember he was listed in the Kingston newspaper along with death of William - as William's brother - also in "Pioneer Life on the Bay of Quinte" - where John Howells descendants are listed - I see no mention of Matthew - is the list incomplete - do you know.

In your "Loyalist Graves in the Bay of Quinte Region" - I see no list of Bethany Cemetery? - only a Bethel Cemetery - what township would Bethany Cemetery be in?
 Is it Anglican or United -

Thank you for finding the land which was Matthews & on which Aseph lived. - I'll search in this area also. -

When I began this search in earnest last Spring,
I wrote to the different Historical Societies & purchased the two following books - which proved beneficial & enjoyable

X They are - Historic Hastings - Dyer

X Historical Glimpses of Lennox & Addington
by Lennox & Add. Hist. Society

Sorry to say I have not read your X book - "Forgotten Leaves of the History of Kingston" -

Our local library does not have a copy.

It should prove very interesting I would very much like to have your book - if it is X within my means. What are you asking for it? As for knowing what I owe you for your information re. Joseph & Mathew etc -

X I don't have any idea, really - please tell me what you charge.

Hope to hear from you again

Yours,
John H. E. Thorp
(nee Howell)

I am not certain whether or not you care to receive the new facts which I uncover. Would you be interested in forming a file on our branch of Howell family. —

If ever I complete this search - it would be great to be able to present it to The M.E.L. Society - unless you have a better idea - you see, I have hopes of completing it.

I have however had to go back to work - after being home for a period of five years - to gather together sufficient funds to pay for the assistance you & others (viz. Rafane Historical Society & the Synod at Kingston) have very generously given. So kindly bear with me a little while, as I set aside my paint brush & sewing machine -

I shall be in touch again, & please accept my gratitude for all your help yours loyally,

John M.E. Thorp.

LAND THAT HE DREW THERE -

N.B. THIS ABOVE IS SIMILAR TO THAT WHICH YOU SENT TO ME - PREVIOUSLY.

I have examined the Illustrated Historical Atlas of Durham (Murray Twp.) - & found no sign of Mathew Howells' name noted on map -

Also - The land to which Asaph & Hannah resided -
N.E. LOT. 5 CON 4. NORTH FREDERICKSBURG AND WHICH WE THOUGHT MAY HAVE BELONGED TO MATHEW - is marked PAUL HOWELL -

I now observe from your letter received this evening, that Asaph Howell did have a son Paul.

Where, may I ask is the late district of Nassau, where Mathew had LOT 6.

Dear Dr. Burleigh:

Many thanks once again for the additional information re. Asaph Howell. - I shall be pleased to add this to my records.

I was also able to uncover some facts about Mathew - which I shall enlarge upon. I have not been able to connect him up with Asaph, as yet. Anyway this is what I found - of my father, The Howell side. Only two sisters remain of Dads generation & although one of them was able to give me some information - I'm afraid that much is lost as records were scant in those days. She, (my aunt) is quite interested in the work which I am doing & is every bit as pleased as I am when I uncover new facts & asks to be kept posted as I progress.

I do hope you are able to follow the information I am forwarding, as you will see. I have spent much time preparing it & tried to make it legible.

I thought typing it might make it easier to follow, (afraid I am not a typist, but I hope to become one) as when I get excited, my writing becomes a scribble & I get carried away with my thoughts.

Thank you so much for your interest.
yours sincerely,

Dear Dr. Burlingame

I was very pleased to receive your letter and am delighted to hear that you offer assistance.

I am sending along, under separate cover, all the research I have done up to this date. That which I feel I am lacking, could well be staring right at me, and because I have looked at it over & over, just "cannot see it for looking", as the expression goes.

I have enjoyed every minute that I have spent on this family search. I only wish I had begun when dad was still living. He was the historian of the family, among many other talents.

I had known from an early age that we were of U. E. L. stock and little bits about the family often come back to my mind. Howell is a Welsh name - & my mother is also Welsh. She came to Canada when aged sixteen, but it is not her side of the family which I search (she was a Hudson) but that

Dear Dr. Burleigh;

Your book arrived, for which,
many thanks. I am enjoying it greatly.

Have you written a second volume ?

I notice from one of the articles you mention being a coin collector, would you also be a philatelist ? This is one of my husband's hobbies. He really becomes involved. I was really thrilled to read a section in your book about the Petersons — my greatgrandmother being a daughter of Christian Peterson. I see mention of the Howell family once again, but probably not my branch, at least I haven't proved it, as yet.

I am enclosing a small money order for $ 10.00 .

Will be in touch again ,soon,

Yours truly,

Doris M. E. Thorp.
